SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH VOL. 66. NO. 337.

CIVIL SUIT FOR DISSOLUTION OF NEW HAVEN FILED

Attorney-General McReynolds Proceeds Under Sherman Act in New York.

CRIMINAL ACTION NEXT

Attorney-General to Seek Most Important Indictments in Law's History.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Civil suit to force the separation of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad Co. from its subsidiary rail, trolley and steamship lines under the Sherman anti-trust act was filed in the Federal Court here today by Attorney-General McReynolds.

The suit begun today has no actual connection with the criminal indictments which the Attorney-General will ask a Federal grand jury to return against New Haven officers and directors concerned in the upbuilding of the alleged unlawful combination in restraint of trade. The criminal proceedings will be conducted independently of the civil suit and the failure or success of one is not expected to affect the other.

Experts will testify, T. W. Gregory, special assistant to the Attorney-General who wrote and filed the brief, and F. M. Schwacker, an expert from the Interstate Commerce Commission who has worked many months on the case, are expected to lay the evidence before the grand jury here on which indictments will be asked. Such action will mark the beginning of what may prove to be the most important criminal proceeding ever undertaken under the Sherman anti-trust statute in the 34 years it has been on the statute books.

To the civil suit the New Haven may not offer any great defense, but Government officials would be greatly surprised if the attempt to convict directors and officers does not lead to a great legal battle, which probably will not end this side of the United States Supreme Court.

The brief written by Gregory charges the New Haven with being an unlawful monopoly which controls more than 90 per cent of the steamship transportation of that region. Gregory asks the court to restore competition by ordering the separation of the New Haven from its Sound and outside steamship lines and from its trolley system in Rhode Island and Connecticut.

Domestic to Five States. The brief suggests that if the Court deems best it appoint a receiver to take over the property and bring it in harmony with the law, and asks for the customary "restraining order" if the Court finds it necessary. The Government alleges that the New Haven began its march towards a monopolization of New England transportation in 1853 and that its domination over five States is now almost uncontested.

The brief carries with it an exhibit purporting to be a copy of an agreement between representatives of the New Haven and Boston and Maine railroad, made on March 6, 1914, by which the two roads divided New England between themselves. This agreement purports to have been made at the home of the late J. Pierpont Morgan in New York. At that time the two roads concerned were entirely separate.

Whole Country Affected. New England makes the bill says about $2,000,000,000 worth of products annually and there is consequently a heavy movement to and from that section of raw materials and finished products, so that a transportation monopoly there is of vast interest to every section of the United States.

In the former years they show New England with nearly a dozen competing systems, in 1913 with the New Haven and the Central Vermont and Grand Trunk only. In 1903, the map shows, hundreds of towns and villages in the five states were reached by more than one transportation system; in 1913 it gives possibly 25 where there is competition in transportation, the rest being reached only by the New Haven or its subsidiaries. This great change in transportation conditions, the Government alleges, has led to unreasonable delay in delivering freight, use of inferior and unsafe rolling stock, the lack of proper signal systems and safety devices, the destruction of the autonomy of the units now combined in making rates, the suppression of competition among these units, the diversion of freight traffic to the New Haven company, an effort to increase freight rates, and dilatory and arbitrary methods in dealing with patrons.

The brief is one of the most comprehensive filed by the Government in any similar suit. Gregory began its preparation almost a year ago and has worked steadily on it, much of the time since. It goes further than the Department of Justice proposed to go in untangling the New Haven in the agreement for that purpose made last March. It is now void. In addition to relief sought in that widely published agreement, the bill of today asks that the New Haven be stripped of its ownership in the New England Railroad, which parallels its famous shore line from Boston to New York, and that it be made to give up its so-called Sound steamship lines, the retention of which was under the agreement, to be left to the Interstate Commerce Commission. If the Court takes the view of this

MAN'S UNDERSHIRT TAKEN AS EVIDENCE

Revenue Officers Suspect Oleo Coloring Matter Made Orange-hued Spot on It.

Charles Willie's undershirt was taken from his back to be used as evidence against him after Internal Revenue officers had made a raid on his Economy Creamery at 4333 Page boulevard, Wednesday night. He is charged with coloring oleomargarine without paying the tax and selling it for butter. One thousand pounds of oleomargarine was confiscated.

The law requires a sample of the coloring matter for evidence in such cases. The revenue officers could find none and were about to give up the search when they noticed an orange-colored spot on the sleeve of Willie's undershirt. They believed this was a splash of coloring matter and they took the shirt with them. They also took several pieces of broken glass which they said seemed to be parts of a bottle which had contained coloring matter.

When the officers approached the rear of the house a large bulldog blocked their entrance. On the front porch they found Willie's wife and daughter, who refused to unlock the basement door for them. They forced open the door and found Willie at work with his outer shirt off. They reported that he was surrounded by tubs of oleo, some of which was in process of coloring. Forty pounds of uncolored oleo was found in an exhibit in the rear yard. Apparently it had been hastily dumped there.

ARMY WORM RUINS MANY LAWNS IN NEW YORK

Residents Appeal to Washington for Instructions in Method to Fight Pest.

NEW YORK, July 23.—The army worm has descended upon New York, doing heavy damage to lawns in Harlem. Within the last twenty days the worm extended its operations to parts of Brooklyn and destroyed lawns on many large estates.

In a single night the worms did irreparable damage to plants and flowers. Calliopsis, whiteclover, Jamaica and Newton have been invaded. Apple have been sent to Washington asking what methods can be used to kill them. Thousands of the pests made their appearance yesterday in Bayonne and other New Jersey towns and did much damage to lawns, flowers and vegetable gardens, and last night many persons were out fighting the worms by firelight.

MAN BUYS HIS OWN AX FROM ANOTHER AT 25c

Seller Insists He Bought it at 15c on Middle Street but He Is Fined $5.

Theodore Hauflus, 50 years old, sold an ax to Joseph Rother, a confectioner at Big Bend road and Maple boulevard, Maplewood, for 25 cents. A few minutes later Rother sent his son to the back yard to split some wood. The son returned and said the ax was gone. Rother brought out the ax he had purchased and was surprised to learn from the son that it was the regular family ax of the Rother's. The Marshal found Hauflus, who insisted he had purchased the ax on Middle Street for 15c. He was fined $5 and costs by Police Judge Ragland.

SPENDS $200, DRIVES 500 MILES, FINDS $125 HORSE

Kentuckian Said Mother Who Was Ill, Grieved Over Loss of Animal.

After driving more than 500 miles in a buggy and spending more than $200 in the search, M. E. Poole of Roberts, Ky., Wednesday recovered a horse valued at $125 which was stolen from his home. He found it on Joseph Leonard's farm near Belleville.

Poole told Leonard that his mother who is in the fond of the horse that its loss made her condition worse and therefore he had spared no expense in recovering it.

A man charged with stealing the horse is under arrest at Dixon, Ky. The horse was sold to Henry Stacker of East St. Louis, who in turn sold it to Leonard.

MRS. ASTOR SPENDS 40c

She Buys Seats for Movies for Party of Four.

BAR HARBOR, Me., July 23.—Society has found a new diversion. Dancing and dinners have been discarded for the "movies." Every night a long line of automobiles can be seen in front of a theater. Last evening from one of the automobiles stepped Mrs. John Jacob Astor, Mrs. William H. Force, Miss Katherine E. Force and her fiancé, Henry Harwick.

The four seats cost Mrs. Astor just 40 cents.

BOY SCOUT KILLED ACCIDENTALLY BY ANOTHER SCOUT

Paul Jones of Marissa, Ill., on Camping Trip, Shot Fatally as He Is Swimming.

MOTHER SEES HIM DIE

Banker's Son Who Held Rifle Was Comrade and Is Overcome With Grief.

MARISSA, Ill., July 23.—Paul Jones, a Boy Scout, 14-year-old son of Charles Jones, a coal operator and president of the Board of Education, was accidentally shot through the left breast by Albert Hamilton, son of William Hamilton, president of the First National Bank of Marissa, at 9 a. m. today, at a Boy Scouts' camp on Dozaw Creek, a mile from town.

The Jones boy was swimming in the creek and the Hamilton boy was sitting on the bank with a rifle in his hands. The weapon was discharged accidentally and the bullet pierced the swimmer's body.

Hamilton, assisted by Lyman Matthews, Bartley Hearst, Gordon Boyle and Ray Schumacher, dragged the dying boy from the water and young Schumacher started on his bicycle for Marissa to call a doctor.

Thomas Brown of Sparta, passing in his automobile, was hailed by the boys, and taking the Jones boy into his machine, speeded with him to the office of Dr. G. R. Hayes. The boy was still conscious, but was sinking rapidly. His mother was sent for and arrived before he lost consciousness. He bade her good-by and in a few moments was dead.

Dr. J. M. Campbell, Deputy Coroner, held an inquest and a verdict of accident was returned.

The Jones boy and his innocent slayer were comrades and young Hamilton is overcome with grief.

ROOSEVELT TO BE SUED FOR LIBEL BY BARNES

New York Republican State Chairman Takes Exception to Latest Statement by Colonel.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Chairman William Barnes of the Republican State Committee announced today that he had instructed his counsel to bring suit for libel against Theodore Roosevelt, based upon Col. Roosevelt's statement last night attacking Barnes and endorsing the candidacy of Harvey D. Hinman for the nomination for Governor at the Republican primaries.

Roosevelt to Support Hinman for Governor. OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 23.—Col. Roosevelt has made an unequivocal promise to support former Secretary Harvey D. Hinman of Binghamton for the nomination for Governor in the Republican and Progressive primaries alike.

"If any straight-out Progressive should enter the Progressive primaries against Mr. Hinman, I shall vote for Mr. Hinman," said Col. Roosevelt and in supplement to his formal statement calling for a "good citizens' movement" he has called it, in Mr. Hinman's behalf.

"I have not and shall not," said the Colonel, "have a thing in the way of a libel suit against Mr. Hinman. I shall vote for him if he is elected, as I believe they will be, save only that they give New York State the cleanest and most efficient Government it has ever had, and that they cut out mercilessly dishonesty from every department in which it appears, without the slightest reference to whom it affects."

In his statement Roosevelt calls up all good citizens to join in support of the State ticket "the success of which would mean the overthrow of both Mr. Barnes and Mr. Murphy."

MAN TRAVELS 10 DAYS IN BOAT WITH LEGS CRUSHED

500-Mile Trip of Alaskan to Submit to Amputation Fails to Save Life.

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, July 23.—William Moore, a merchant and trader of Fort Yukon, completed last night a 500-mile trip in a row boat from the Porcupine River to Fort Gibbon to have his legs amputated. He died early today.

Moore was repairing an engine in a small steamboat on the Porcupine River 10 days ago when the machinery started, mangle both of his legs. He all planned to join in support of the State ticket "the success of which would mean the overthrow of both Mr. Barnes and Mr. Murphy."

It was thought Flip had been stolen from Britton's automobile while it stood in front of 518 Locust street Wednesday afternoon. Gelfs said the boy followed his cashier, Miss Marie Sambothe, into the store when she returned there from a bank.

CARDINAL DOG FOUND

Flip, a $300 bulldog, owned by Schuyler Britton, president of the Cardinals baseball club, was returned to Britton at the ball park Thursday afternoon by August Gelfs, a furnishing goods dealer at 414 North Seventh street.

It was thought Flip had been stolen from Britton's automobile while it stood in front of 518 Locust street Wednesday afternoon. Gelfs said the boy followed his cashier, Miss Marie Sambothe, into the store when she returned there from a bank.

MRS. C. L. CRANE, MARRIED 30 YEARS, OBTAINS A DIVORCE

She Tells of Quarrel Over Whisky He Couldn't Find, After Which Husband Left Home.

ASKED HIM TO RETURN

Insurance Man Rejected Pleas, She Testifies — Apartment Building Goes to Her.

Mrs. Charles L. Crane of 4513 Westminster place, wife of the president of the Charles L. Crane Agency, Insurance agents, in the Pierce Building, after 30 years of married life, obtained a divorce in Judge Hiltchcock's court Thursday. On testimony that the quarrel which led to their separation April 5, 1913, was caused by her husband's failure to find a half-pint of whisky when he reached home that day.

Mrs. Crane said her husband looked in the bathroom, where he expected to find the whisky, and accused her of disposing of it. She denied knowing anything about it. He then looked for a bottle of peroxide, she said, and could not find that.

Jon Tells of Quarrel. She testified that a quarrel followed, and that he cursed and abused her.

Their son, Frank, testified he had heard his father abuse his mother for a number of years and that he never had interfered, but that on this occasion he upbraided his father for the language used. His father ordered him from the house, he said, and he appealed to his mother to say whether he should go. She told him to remain at home, that his father was nervous and that everything would be all right the following morning. His father, he testified, then said: "Never mind, I'll go."

The son said his father left the apartment and had not returned.

Asked Him to Return. The following morning Mrs. Crane sent a note to her husband asking him to return, and he did not do so. Later she visited him in his office and made another appeal, but he refused, she testified.

Her attorney testified he had endeavored to bring about a reconciliation, but that Crane told him he was not at fault and that to return would mean only a renewal of their family quarrels.

The attorney said Crane and his wife had signed a contract, by which Crane agreed to pay off a $20,000 mortgage on the Tudor apartments, 4512 Westminster place, which he owns and where she lives, and that Mrs. Crane was to have the property in lieu of alimony. The contract was not to be included as a part of the judgment.

FORTUNE TELLER'S WARNING DRIVES MINER INSANE

Physicians Find Man's Mind Is Deranged From Being Told Wife Is False.

An opinion that the goothaying of a fortune teller caused Paul Liebig, a coal miner, to lose his mind, was given in the County Court at Belleville Thursday by Dr. Adolf Hanning, who, with Dr. A. M. Scheel, formed a commission to inquire into Liebig's sanity. He was adjudged deranged by County Judge Perrin and ordered sent for treatment to the Insane Hospital at Anna, Ill.

About a month ago, it was stated, Liebig went to a clairvoyant in East St. Louis, who declared that his wife was false to him. On his return the miner brooded and worried for days, and accused his wife of unfaithfulness.

He placed more confidence in the insight of the seer than he did in his denials, and at last threatened to kill her. She had him arrested.

On the day before he went to East St. Louis he drew all of his savings, $400, from the bank and left the money at the police station in Belleville. Two days later he reclaimed the money and gave it away, he said, to some person whose name he did not remember. He and his wife have three small children.

GOV. BLEASE'S FOE SHOT BY UNIDENTIFIED MAN

Assailant Inflicts Slight Wound, Saying, "Now You Won't Bother Colie."

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 23.—Dr. J. H. McIntosh, who has figured in a political exchange with Gov. Colie Blease, was shot today by an unidentified man. The wound is not dangerous. Blease had announced that when he spoke in Columbia today he would call Dr. McIntosh to the platform to confront him with certain statements.

Dr. McIntosh says his assailant, after shooting him, made off, shouting: "Now you won't bother Colie tomorrow." Bloodhounds have failed to pick up a trail.

At the capitul a statement was issued saying Blease regretted the affair and that the Governor's office would lend all possible aid for the capture of the assailant.

MORPHINE CURE PUTS DR. BAUDUY IN HOSPITAL

Physician Takes Overdose of Paraldehyde Used in Fighting Drug Habit.

Dr. Keating Bauduy, 48 years old, member of the well known St. Louis family of that name and formerly a practicing physician here, is at the city hospital in a serious condition as a result of taking two ounces of paraldehyde, a poisonous coal tar product, in his room at 3528 Pine street.

Dr. Bauduy told a Post-Dispatch reporter he had been taking paraldehyde for several months in an effort to cure himself of the morphine habit, which, he said, he contracted 25 years ago when he had an office at Vandeventer and Olive street. Recently he has been living in Little Rock, Ark.

He came to St. Louis six months ago to be near his mother, Mrs. Caroline Bauduy of 3528 Pine street. His father, Dr. Jerome K. Bauduy, was a noted St. Louis alienist.

Bauduy said that he made a mistake Wednesday and took an overdose of paraldehyde. The morphine habit, he said, had grown on him so that he had been taking from two to 10 grains of it every

Mme. Gueydan told the four red-robed Judges how Mme. Caillaux had stolen from her the love of her husband, one of the first men in French public and political life.

The former Premier of France, who formerly was Mme. Gueydan's husband, crept nearer and nearer her as she testified. The slayer of Gaston Calmette listened with averted face to a recital that branded her a woman without honor and without truth.

Mme. Gueydan told how her husband had confessed to her that he had taken a mistress. He begged forgiveness and the wife, believing she "saw the bottom of his heart through his tears," forgave him, but he returned the next day to the woman he afterward married, who is now on trial for murder.

Mme. Gueydan acknowledged that she had other letters from the woman on trial to Caillaux written before the divorce. She refused, even under the most insistent urging of the Court, to give them up, but finally said she would give them to M. Labori, counsel for the woman, as she is testifying against her, to dispose of as he sees fit. Labori declared it was the highest honor ever paid him.

Mme. Gueydan, a slender woman of medium height, was dressed simply in black and wore a small blue hat with blue feathers. She looked to be 35 or 36 years old. Her face was drawn in tragic lines, her black eyes showing from great sockets in her wasted cheeks. She seemed ill, but she walked with calm dignity past her former husband, standing in front of the Judges and the jury.

The witness asked if she might refer to her notes, but the request was refused by the Judge.

"There have been so many lies told," said Mme. Gueydan, "that my notes are absolutely necessary, if only to fix dates. Was not M. Caillaux allowed to read from papers? I am confronted with a mountain of lies which I must climb and break to pieces one by one. I am alone. I have no husband to defend me."

In saying this, she gazed at Mme. Caillaux, who, however, did not look at her.

"You are not here to accuse," interrupted Maitre Labori. "You will find nothing but courtesy and deference for yourself personally if your role is simply that of a witness. But if you come here to accuse, then you will find me in front of you as a defender of my client."

Bravos for the Witness. Mme. Gueydan: "If you have spoken of me to M. Caillaux he will have told you that at least I have courage. This was spoken in a challenging tone and called forth 'Bravos' from the spectators, whose sympathy she seemed to have from the moment she entered the courtroom.

CAILLAUX'S FIRST WIFE DRAMATIC WITNESS AT TRIAL OF THE SECOND

Mme. Gueydan Testifies Husband, After Begging Forgiveness Went Back to "This Person."

BELIEVED HIS LIES, SAW HEART THROUGH HIS TEARS

Declares She Has Letters of Defendant, Written Before Divorce, and Gives Them to Mme. Caillaux's Counsel After Insistent Refusals; Spectators Applaud Her.

PARIS, July 23.—In a crowded courtroom today, Mme. Berthe Gueydan told the four red-robed Judges how Mme. Caillaux had stolen from her the love of her husband, one of the first men in French public and political life.

The former Premier of France, who formerly was Mme. Gueydan's husband, crept nearer and nearer her as she testified. The slayer of Gaston Calmette listened with averted face to a recital that branded her a woman without honor and without truth.

Mme. Gueydan told how her husband had confessed to her that he had taken a mistress. He begged forgiveness and the wife, believing she "saw the bottom of his heart through his tears," forgave him, but he returned the next day to the woman he afterward married, who is now on trial for murder.

Mme. Gueydan acknowledged that she had other letters from the woman on trial to Caillaux written before the divorce. She refused, even under the most insistent urging of the Court, to give them up, but finally said she would give them to M. Labori, counsel for the woman, as she is testifying against her, to dispose of as he sees fit. Labori declared it was the highest honor ever paid him.

Mme. Gueydan, a slender woman of medium height, was dressed simply in black and wore a small blue hat with blue feathers. She looked to be 35 or 36 years old. Her face was drawn in tragic lines, her black eyes showing from great sockets in her wasted cheeks. She seemed ill, but she walked with calm dignity past her former husband, standing in front of the Judges and the jury.

The witness asked if she might refer to her notes, but the request was refused by the Judge.

"There have been so many lies told," said Mme. Gueydan, "that my notes are absolutely necessary, if only to fix dates. Was not M. Caillaux allowed to read from papers? I am confronted with a mountain of lies which I must climb and break to pieces one by one. I am alone. I have no husband to defend me."

In saying this, she gazed at Mme. Caillaux, who, however, did not look at her.

"You are not here to accuse," interrupted Maitre Labori. "You will find nothing but courtesy and deference for yourself personally if your role is simply that of a witness. But if you come here to accuse, then you will find me in front of you as a defender of my client."

Bravos for the Witness. Mme. Gueydan: "If you have spoken of me to M. Caillaux he will have told you that at least I have courage. This was spoken in a challenging tone and called forth 'Bravos' from the spectators, whose sympathy she seemed to have from the moment she entered the courtroom.

Judge Abanel rapped on his desk. Then Mme. Gueydan continued: "I have been pained to see that the person who drew the indictment has gathered together the filth. All the pity has gone to the intruder who defiled my home to take my place."

Maitre Labori: Mme. Gueydan promised to testify without having seen the papers. It is said that the crime was committed because I communicated copies of letters.

The witness then referred to her notes, to which Maitre Labori objected, amid murmurs of protest against him from the audience.

Judge Abanel supported Maitre Labori's objection. The Judge then himself addressed the witness, saying questioning in order to give her a start: "Disagreements arose in your home?"

Mme. Gueydan: There were no disagreements.

"Domestic Life Was Tender." The witness was speaking rapidly as she continued: "Our domestic life was tender. No one knows. Not even you, Mr. President, and absolutely no one knows about this affair."

Judge Abanel: Nevertheless, you and your husband had a reconciliation over something and the letters were burned. Will you explain?

Mme. Gueydan: The first letter which appeared—do you know who gave that to me? M. Caillaux. He did it at the Ministry of Finance in 1908.

Mme. Gueydan was speaking in low tones and the impatient spectators called out: "Louder! Louder!"

Mme. Gueydan: "I had never suspected my husband had stolen from me the love of his wife. I first knew it when he threw himself in my knees and asked my pardon. He humbled himself and I pardoned him, but the day afterward he returned to this person. I did not cease to believe his lying tale. I felt that the evil surrounding my home had gone, for I thought I saw the bottom of his heart in his tears."

Didn't Know "Other" Woman. Mme. Gueydan's voice had become clear and strong, she spoke in low tones, her words penetrated every part of the chamber as she said: "I did not know at all the person in question. To show you my loyalty to my husband he confided to me a traveling satchel full of his letters and papers. I never opened it. I did not know until a long time afterward that it contained correspondence between him and Mme. Raynouard, now Mme. Caillaux."

The witness' voice sank into indistinctness and she stood silent for a moment before continuing her testimony and then she said: "I do not know what I can say—what I ought to say."

Mme. Gueydan again stood silent until Judge Abanel requested her to continue and to speak louder. She then said: "My husband became irritable and I was nervous. One day he said to me: 'Do you know I came to your bedside last night to kill you?' After that I felt that I ought to leave. I went to Versailles and wrote to him. I thought he would follow me and bring me home, but no! He went to the Department of the Sarthe and I returned to Paris, but he did not and you know why."

VIGILANT BORDER GUARD

Washington Takes Precautions
Against Smuggling of Munitions of War.

VICTORIA, Mexico, July 22, (via Laredo, Tex., July 22).—Gen. Carranza today advocated leniency in "treatment of the conquered by the victorious Constitutionalists." His statement was made in a speech at a banquet tendered by Victoria citizens.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—While many observations still appeared to bar the way to peace in Mexico, dispatches today from headquarters of both Constitutionalists and Federalists expressed the view that the end of fighting was almost in sight. The most menacing factor in the situation, it was said, was the attitude of Villa toward Carranza.

Advices from Consular Agent Carothers declared, however, that there had been no fresh rupture between those Northern leaders and that now they were working "more or less in harmony." Carothers accompanied Villa to Western Chihuahua, where he was to attempt to impress upon the General the necessity for co-operation among the revolutionary leaders. John R. Sullivan, personal representative of President Wilson, was with Carranza, performing similar office.

Turbid Announces Armistice. Dispatches from Mexico City early today told of the announcement by Gen. Turbide, Governor of the Federal district, that an armistice had been signed between the Federalists and Constitutionalists, and that peace negotiations would be advanced upon a basis "giving full guarantee to everybody."

Members of the Constitutionalists in Washington said they knew of no one in Mexico City authorized to sign truce terms for the Constitutionalists, but it was reported that Carranza had been in telegraphic communication with the capital. The Constitutionalists' representative here said they interpreted the statement concerning safety guarantees as meaning that amnesty would be proclaimed for the deserting Carranza, they contended, was disinclined to grant amnesty to political offenders.

Disquieting Elements. That point and Carranza's reported insistence that the Carral Government surrender unconditionally were disquieting elements in the situation. Carranza, it was declared, would resist Carranza's entrance into Mexico City unless the Constitutionalists expressed willingness to give assurances that there would not be an attempt at wholesale arrests and executions.

Realizing that there would be a peaceful and speedy transition of power if the Constitutionalists gave proper guarantees, administration officials today directed their efforts toward having such terms put into effect.

Carranza's errand to Tampico, it was said today, was to adjust differences between Constitutionalists and all producers and merchants over the local financial system. The Constitutionalists, it was declared, had insisted that taxes on imports be paid in gold, while they compelled merchants to accept revolutionary money in payment for supplies.

Precaution Against Smuggling. Treasury agents along the Rio Grande had orders today to take extraordinary precautions against the smuggling of war munitions across the border.

Administration officials were determined that there be no accumulation of ammunition that might be used in a counter revolution.

Villa Having Ice Making Machine Built for the Field.

EL PASO, Tex., July 22.—To add to the comfort of any future summer campaign, Gen. Villa is having an ice-making machine built here to be sent south with his army train toward Queretaro. The machine will make a quarter of a ton of ice a day, sufficient to ice Villa's coffee and keep cool the aguardiente, tequila and sotol of his staff officers. Villa himself rarely tastes liquor and admits he does not like it.

Carbajal Government to Be Asked What Became of Private Parks.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The case of Private Samuel Parks, who mysteriously disappeared at Vera Cruz in the early days of American occupation of that city, again will be brought to the attention of the Government in Mexico City with a request for an explanation as to what happened to him. Hearney evidence was to the effect that Parks was executed by Mexican soldiers and that his body was destroyed.

Sen. Rojas Revolts With 200 Men, Leaves With 100 When Rejected.

MEXICO CITY, July 22.—Gen. Antonio Rojas, a former revolutionary leader who later became a Federal chief, has revolted with 200 men of the Federal troop stationed at Tacubaya, a suburb of the capital. The military authorities sent a detachment of the Ninth Regiment in pursuit. Rojas and his men were overtaken in the Santa Fe hills and routed.

Fifty of the militiamen were captured and brought here last night. Gen. Rojas and Col. Alarista, with about 100 men, escaped and are being followed by the Government troops.

Robbers for 20 Minutes.

A man entered the saloon of Charles Angel, 317 South Twenty-first street, about 11:45 p. m. Wednesday and, after ordering a drink, drew a revolver and commanded the proprietor to step into the refrigerator. Angel obeyed and the robber helped himself to the contents of the cash drawer, $16, and departed. Angel remained in his frigid cell 20 minutes until a customer appeared and liberated him.

MAN ROBBED ON LEVEE

Two Negroes Hold Him Head

John Noonan, 23 years old, of 1111 North Seventh street, went to sleep on the Levee at Walnut street Wednesday night. He was awakened about 5 a. m. by a tug at his coat and found two negroes searching his pockets.

He resisted and each took hold of one of his feet and shook him head downward until he cried for help. The negroes then took $4 from him and escaped. Noonan was treated for contusions and lacerations about the face.

Kaiser's Son to Wed Sept. 25.

BERLIN, July 22.—September 25 has been set as the date of the marriage of Prince Oskar, fifth son of the German Emperor, and Empress, to Countess Ina Marie von Dansewitz-Levetsov. After her marriage the Countess is to be styled the Countess von Ruppini.

KIEL'S SON WRITES HE HAS ELOPED, IS ONLY ENGAGED

"Honeymoon" Card His Way of Announcing He Is to Wed
Miss Marie Budde.

Elmer Kiel, 19-year-old son of Mayor Kiel, and Miss Marie Budde of 4173A Russell avenue, while visiting in Okaville Sunday were so exuberant over having recently become engaged that they sent a postcard home on which was written, above their signatures: "Whoopie, we're on our honeymoon."

The message on the card became known to their friends and was taken at its face value until they explained it was only a joke and their way of announcing their engagement.

Young Kiel, who is assistant secretary of the Kiel & Davis Bricklaying and Contracting Co., has promised his father that he will not get married until he is 21.

Miss Budde swims and rows and is one of the most athletic members of the Century Boat Club. At the spring regatta of the club her skillful work at the rudder aided a crew of unmarried men to win two victories over a crew of benedict and brought to her great praise.

Kiel and Miss Budde will depart Friday on a boat trip to Cape Girardeau, chartered by Mrs. Granville Hogan, a daughter of Mayor Kiel.

STEAMBOAT ST. JAMES SUED ON A $500 NOTE

Deputy United States Marshal
Seizes Excursion Steamer
Which Runs to Montesano.

Thomas F. Courtney Thursday filed suit in the Federal Court against the steamboat St. James, an excursion boat between St. Louis and Montesano, on a note for $500. The boat was seized by a Deputy United States Marshal.

Courtney alleged that July 2, John F. Klein, owner and captain of the vessel, borrowed $500 from Adam Boeck & Co., real estate dealers, to pay employees' wages, and gave a demand note. When the note was presented July 6, only $37.50 was paid, he alleges. Courtney says he now owns the note.

Deputy Marshal Williams, who seized the boat, put a watchman in charge. Klein told him he would arrange a bond under which the boat could be released.

5 STRIKERS KILLED IN ST. PETERSBURG STREET RIOTING

Cossacks and Police Pour Volleys Into Barricades Erected by Workmen.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 22.—At least five striking workmen were killed and eight seriously wounded during the fighting in the streets of St. Petersburg between strikers and Cossacks, which continued throughout the night and ceased only at dawn today. Three police officials also are known to have been seriously injured.

It is understood that the casualties among the strikers were much heavier, as it is believed they concealed a number of their dead and wounded.

Official estimates of the number of men who have quit work give the total of 120,000 in the city itself.

Men carrying red flags spent the night marching and singing revolutionary songs in the outlying open spaces of the capital, while in the Viborg district they cut down telegraph poles, upset vans and constructed barricades across the streets from the shelter of which they stoned the police and Cossacks.

The strikers, however, eventually dispersed and the barricades were destroyed but only after the police and soldiers had fired volleys from their rifles.

St. Louis Man Surrenders at Jefferson City, but Lack of Commitment Papers Bars Him.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 22.—John Leonard Stewart, who got two years for killing John C. Killian, for three days has been trying to get into the penitentiary without success.

Stewart came here Sunday from St. Louis to enter prison after he learned the Supreme Court had dismissed his appeal from the verdict of the Circuit Court.

Warden McClung told him he could not begin his sentence without a commitment. Supreme Court Clerk Allen refused to issue one, saying the dismissal of the appeal had taken the case out of his jurisdiction, and no instructions had been received from the St. Louis court.

Stewart told Warden McClung he would like to begin serving time as soon as possible. McClung wired the Sheriff of St. Louis for a commitment, and receiving assurance that it was on the way, he took Stewart to the prison in his automobile today, and he will be "dressed in" as soon as the commitment is received.

'KING' PLEADS NOT GUILTY; SAYS HE CAN WIN CASE

Assailant of Felix E. Anderson
Talks Confidently When Arraigned for Crime.

Edward Koenig, who pronounces his name "King," was arraigned before Judge Clark Thursday on a charge of assault to kill for shooting Felix E. Anderson, assistant to President McChesney of the Terminal Railroad Association.

When asked if he was Edward Koenig he replied:

"No, my name is King."

He then pleaded not guilty and was led back to the prisoner's cage. There he said:

"I'll fight this case and I think I have more than an even chance to win it."

Aug. 5 was set as the date for the preliminary hearing.

Before leaving Police Headquarters, to go to court, Koenig talked volubly of his reasons for shooting Anderson.

"Publicity is the greatest force in the world," he said. "It took a desperate act to bring the public to an understanding of the wrongs committed by the class to which the Terminal people belong. They are the class that wants to make this country a monarchy. They are the class that keeps the working man down."

Koenig said he was an arbitrator, not an agitator, and that he believed his act in shooting Anderson would result in calling the attention of the courts to the Terminal's methods in dealing with its employees.

TULANE SCIENTIST AND GIRL MISSING; WIFE BRINGS SUIT

Dr. Creighton Wellman and Pupil, an Admirer, Leave New Orleans at Same Time.

REPORTED TO BE IN EAST

Mrs. Wellman Once Singer, Husband Noted Authority on Tropical Disease.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW ORLEANS, July 22.—Educational and social circles were shocked when it became known that Mrs. Kathryn Edna Wellman, wife of Dr. Creighton Wellman, formerly dean of Tulane University's tropical disease medical department, and famous throughout America and Europe as a scientist, had filed suit for divorce, charging abandonment.

Mrs. Wellman declares her husband left New Orleans Dec. 23, 1913, for parts unknown. That Dr. Wellman had been absent from the university duties had been a matter of general knowledge, but that he had left his wife was the secret of only a few.

Coincidentally with the filing of Mrs. Wellman's suit it became known that at the time the scientist disappeared, Miss Elsie Dunn, a pretty and intellectual student at Tulane University, left her home. She is the daughter of Seelye Dunn and was a leader in the younger social set. She was also secretary of the Woman's Suffrage party here.

Efforts have been made to trace the two, but the families of neither know where they are. Reports have been received that they have been seen in New York at various times.

Mrs. Wellman said today: "It was not necessary to name Miss Dunn in my suit, although I know she and Dr. Wellman went away together." Mr. Dunn, father of the missing girl, said: "I have not seen my daughter since Dec. 23, when she left home saying she was going to New York to engage in literary pursuits. She was a great admirer of Dr. Wellman, and studied much with him. I wish I had my hands on him now. I would make him suffer for the misery he has brought me."

Mrs. Wellman, who was Miss Kathryn Edna Willis, comes of a leading family of Buffalo. Before her marriage she traveled extensively abroad and studied music. She sang professionally in Dresden, Berlin, Paris and London, as well as New York Boston and other Eastern cities.

After coming to New Orleans to superintend the school of tropical medicine at Tulane University, Dr. Wellman mingled with many of the best people in the city. His reputation had preceded him. His wife helped him to make a social success.

Wellman held marriage in contempt. It was a fact of Dr. Wellman to from time to time hold a salon, as he called it. At these salons Miss Dunn was frequently present. For marriage Dr. Wellman at times expressed contempt, scoffing at it as a cowardly institution.

"What difference does it make," he once said, "whether a priest or a preacher mumbles a few words over a couple of lovers?" Dr. Wellman is considered one of the greatest authorities on tropical diseases, and has written several text books. He has made several expeditions to South America and South Africa to study these diseases. He was at one time connected with the Smithsonian Institution. He is of and a native of Kansas City.

Dr. Wellman left his wife a collection of beetles which he valued at $500. Mrs. Wellman has not been able to obtain that price. She is earning a living by teaching music, and has used her own money and sold her personal belongings to straighten claims made by persons who said they were creditors of her husband. She says she has no desire to see him again.

$20,000 DAMAGES ASKED FOR FROST-BITTEN FEET

Suit for Boy Against Ship Agent Result of Loss of Toes on Trip to America.

A suit for $20,000 damages was filed in the Circuit Court Wednesday for Max Grolnick, 13 years old, against John Ellman of St. Louis place, a steamship agent, because of frost-bitten feet suffered by the boy when he was being transported to America.

It is alleged that, on Nov. 10, 1913, the boy's father, Joseph Grolnick, made an agreement with Ellman by which the agent guaranteed safe transportation for young Grolnick from Belorodko, Russia, to Antwerp, for which the agent was paid $87.50.

After reaching the Russian border there was no conveyance to another point and, it is alleged, the boy was compelled to walk from 7:30 o'clock at night until 7 the next morning through masses of snow and ice, and the five toes of the right foot and three of the left were so badly frost-bitten as a result of the exposure that amputation was necessary.

2 WORKMEN ARE BURNED

They Are Caught in Shower of Hot Steel at Forge Plant.

Medi Husein, 22 years old, and Hamet Taha, 25, both of 2235 South Second street, were burned Wednesday night by a shower of hot steel when a steam pipe burst in a building at the Helmbacher Forge and Rolling Mill Co., DeKalb and Barton streets.

Flames resulting from the explosion cut off escape temporarily, but workmen from the plant rescued the two men. At the Alexian Brothers hospital it was stated they would recover.

PASTOR WHO LEFT HIS FAMILY TO BE TRIED BY CHURCH

Minister, Missing Two Years, Is Found Selling Papers Under Assumed Name.

The Rev. Philip C. Carlin, for 20 years an evangelist of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Southern Illinois, was found in St. Louis, where he was selling newspapers, before the conference which is to be held in September in Lawrenceville, to answer charges growing out of his abandonment of his family.

Carlin disappeared in the fall of 1912 and was understood to have gone West. His disappearance was reported to the conference held last fall at Murphysboro and the Rev. M. H. Ewers of Madison was appointed to investigate. Nothing was known as to his whereabouts until the Rev. L. M. Birkhead, pastor of the Warrenton Memorial M. E. Church, alighting from a car at Garrison and Lucas avenues, was accosted by a man who asked him to buy a paper. The voice sounded familiar and Birkhead turned and recognized the speaker as Carlin. He extended his hand and called Carlin by name, but the former evangelist said his name was Williams and not Carlin.

Birkhead learned that Carlin was staying at a rooming house at 274 Olive street. On Birkhead's first visit to the house Carlin persisted that Carlin was not his name, but on his second visit Carlin confessed his identity. Birkhead says.

District Superintendent S. A. D. Rogers of Centralia, accompanied by Birkhead and Ewers, went to see Carlin. He asked to be let alone, gave Rogers a written withdrawal from the ministry and said his ordination papers were in the garage of the house he formerly occupied at Lebanon, Ill. Ewers went there and found the papers.

Carlin is more than 50 years old. He has two sons and a daughter. The sons are both ministers. His wife recently has moved to Winona, Minn.

CONSPIRATORS CAPTURED

Men Confess They Plotted to Overturn Peru Government.

LIMA, Peru, July 23.—A conspiracy against the Government was discovered late last night and a large number of plotters were surprised and captured in the residence of Dr. Gerardo Balbuena Barranco.

The prisoners included seven military men, all of whom confessed that it was their intention to overturn the Government.

BIG ICE CONCERNS TO BE SHOWN TO WORK TOGETHER

Evidence of Interchange of Service to Go Before Assistant Attorney-General.

$25,000 FINE IS PAID

Small Companies Which Polar Wave Aided in Strike Say It Took Their Customers.

Evidence that the Polar Wave and Merchants ice companies interchange service and that drivers for each have an understanding whereby they accept each other's tickets for deliveries, will be laid before Assistant Attorney-General W. T. Rutherford when he resumes the investigation of joint rate increases by these and other companies recently.

The investigation was interrupted Thursday by a previously arranged hearing to take evidence against the alleged motion picture trust, which Rutherford conducted at the Maryland Hotel.

The Polar Wave in the morning, sent a check to the Supreme Court for $25,000 in payment of the reduced fine which the company was ordered to remit within 30 days. The order, issued July 2, was a modification of an opinion handed down by the court in April, assessing a fine of $50,000 and ousting the company from the State unless it complied with anti-trust law.

Clerk to Hold Money.

The clerk will not pay the Polar Wave fine into the general revenue fund, as the lumber trust fines were paid, but will hold the ice company fine until the October term, pending a decision of the court on the motion of former Circuit Attorney Arthur N. Sager, who asks that one-fourth of the amount be paid to him as his commission and the remainder be paid into the St. Louis school fund. Sager's contention is based on an old statute in force when he began the Polar Wave prosecution, but which since has been repealed.

It is said the community of interests feeling is so strong between several of the companies and the Polar Wave, that when union organizers attempted to unite drivers and helpers of all companies recently, Polar Wave officials agreed to handle the customers of the smaller companies during the strike, which might be declared, accepting tickets of the other companies for such ice deliveries.

The acceptance of Polar Wave tickets by drivers of the Merchants' Ice and Coal Co., and of Merchants' tickets by the Polar Wave drivers, has continued since Rutherford's investigation got under way.

John C. Muckermann, vice-president of the Polar Wave Co., admitted Thursday the company had accepted tickets of practically all dealers in the city during the strike period, but denied the company sanctioned such a practice at the present time.

Coupon Book Substitution.

Many companies that accepted the agreement of the Polar Wave to deliver ice for them during the strike are regretful today, their drivers assert, because the Polar Wave in many instances substituted its own coupon books for the books it found in possession of the new customer, and continued to deliver ice after the strike had ended.

Rutherford, at the outset of his investigation, tried to learn what operating or other agreements existed among the ice companies of the city, and was informed by officials of the Polar Wave and Merchants companies that no agreement to raise rates following the recognition of the drivers' union early in July was entered into.

When Rutherford asked Merchants' officials why they raised the rates to exactly the same schedule announced by the Polar Wave immediately after the big concern made its increase, he was informed that inability to buy ice from manufacturers made it impossible for the Merchants to compete with the Polar Wave and take over its dissatisfied customers at the old rates. Rutherford learned from officials of the Polar Wave that, although the company manufactures but a fifth of the 450 tons of ice produced daily in St. Louis, it controls the visible supply by contracts with the breweries, packing houses and other concerns that make the bulk of the ice used in St. Louis.

SHAKES FORMER PARTNER

Lawyer Is Find for Attack on Courthouse Steps.

Ben. C. Lindsay, of 564 Waterman avenue, a lawyer in the Carleton building, was fined $1 and costs, amounting to $12.50, by Justice Werremeyer in Clayton Thursday for disturbing the peace of Edwin Rosenthal, a Clayton lawyer, July 2.

Lindsay and Rosenthal formerly were partners. The day of the disturbance they met on the courthouse steps in Clayton Thursday for disturbing the peace of Edwin Rosenthal, a Clayton lawyer, July 2.

Lindsay said Lindsay shook him, and threatened to strike him, telling him the next time they met that Rosenthal should get out of his way. Rosenthal retorted that he would get a revolver and Lindsay would have to get out of his way.

HIT WITH CUE BY PORTER

Fred Bach, 40 years old, of 3871 Washington avenue, who conducts a pool room at 305 Pine street, reported to the police Thursday that while he was washing his face in the rear of his pool room Wednesday night he was hit on the head with a billiard cue by his porter, James Matthews.

Matthews left the place and had not been found Thursday morning. Bach said he knew of no cause for the assault.

Ten million dollars in gold would weigh 41,791 pounds. See page 12.

PANAMA CANAL NOW READY FOR USE OF BIG SHIPS

First Steamer, 10,000-Ton Cristobal, Owned by U. S., to Go Through in Few Days.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Unofficially word has been received here that the Panama Canal is ready for commercial use and that the first steamer is likely to be sent through within a few days, unless Gov. Goethals is instructed to the contrary by Secretary Garrison. It is understood that the recent explosion in the canal at Cucaracha slide has not interfered with the work at that point and that there is sufficient water there to permit the passage of a large vessel. A message is expected from Gov. Goethals at an early date announcing that the canal is ready and asking for authority to send a ship through. It is thought probable that the Cristobal, which belongs to the War Department, will be the steamer selected. The Cristobal is now at Colon. She is of 10,000 tons register and thus will be the largest vessel to have entered the canal. All is in readiness to facilitate her passage from the Atlantic to the Pacific and return.

Whatever steamer is sent through, the return trip probably will be made at

FATHERS LASH MAN WHO PEEPED AT GIRL BATHERS

Cat-o'-Nine Tails Used and American Then Is Sent From Canadian Town.

MONTREAL, Quebec, July 23.—In the case of George Becker, a motorman on the Montreal and Southern Counties Railway, the leading citizens of St. Lambert, Quebec, are congratulating themselves that they have awarded exact and ample, if somewhat irregular justice. Becker is an American and is said to have come from Delaware.

They administered it cross-cross on Becker's bare back with a cat-o'-nine tails, each leading citizen contributing his share. Then they took him to the railway station, put him aboard a train and gave him a chance to leave the town upon his promise never to return.

This was after the young daughters of several citizens had accused Becker of insulting them grossly and identified him at the Mayor's office. They said that Becker had played "Peeping Tom" on them while they were bathing in the river, and then added to the insult by offering to meet them in the same place.

Cardinal Gibbons' Eightieth Birthday. BALTIMORE, July 23.—Cardinal Gibbons is 80 years old today. There was no formal celebration of the anniversary, the Cardinal passing the day at the country home of T. Herbert Shriver, near Westminster, Md., as has been his custom for several years. Many congratulations have reached him from friends. The Cardinal is in splendid health and for his years extremely active.

Burglars Tunnel Into Drug Store. Louis Liberatore told the police that burglars Wednesday night tunneled around the basement door to enter his drug store at 228 South Euclid avenue. They took six cameras valued at $125 and about $1 from the cash register.

WOMAN IS HELD FOR A FATAL OPERATION

Coroner's Jury Finds She Was Responsible for Death of Mrs. Julia Horenstein.

A deposition made by Mrs. Amanda Mayfield, also of 1914 Carr street, was read to the jury. Mayfield is seriously ill at her home. In her statement she said Mrs. Timke operated on her the same day she operated on Mrs. Horenstein.

Mrs. Horenstein's husband, Meyer Horenstein, and Dr. Sam Lipsitz and Carl Vohs testified that Mrs. Horenstein made an ante-mortem statement in which she said Mrs. Timke performed the operation.

THREE BENEFITS TODAY WILL HELP SAVE THE BABIES

Kirkwood Recital, Seven Cousins
and Madge Rosenfelder to Aid Pure Milk Fund.

This evening, beginning at 8 o'clock, a very notable piano recital will be given in Choral Hall, Kirkwood, for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund by Miss Gladys C. Stevenson and Miss Mary T. Moffett, both of Webster Groves, two admirably qualified young pianists, assisted by Miss Virginia Shearon, also of Webster Groves, a reader who will be heard in two interesting selections.

(b) Value from Suite Opus 15
Arensky
Mary Moffett and Gladys C. Stevenson.
This entertainment is so inviting in the high quality of its offering that its own individual appeal demands a "capacity" audience for its hearing. The good cause for which these three kindly young Webster Groves artists now appear adds vitally to such an appeal.

Also today, on the lawn of the home of Master Edward Mann, 4428 West Belle place, the Seven Cousins will give a carnival to help the Pure Milk Fund save the babies.

The Seven Cousins are Miss June Farrell of St. Louis; Miss Martha Becker of Joplin, Mo.; Miss Mae Olin of Chicago, Ill.; Misses Marie and Gertrude Dailey of Detroit, Mich.; and Masters Arthur Valentine and Edward Mann of St. Louis. Junior Eitman of 4424 West Belle place is assisting in the management.

The Seven Cousins will present an attractive musical program. Refreshments will be sold and served by friends and relatives. The public are cordially invited to attend. In the event of rain, the carnival will be postponed to Friday.

Additionally, too, this afternoon and evening, little Miss Madge Rosenfelder, 8 years old, said to be the best child toe-dancer in St. Louis, will give an ice cream festival on the lawn of her home, 1812 Coleman street, from 4:30 until 9 o'clock. The lawn will be picturesquely illuminated with Japanese lanterns and, during the course of the entertainment, little Miss Rosenfelder will appear in a series of beautiful dances.

Raenette F. Purdy, of 866 Catalpa street, writes: "Enclosed please find $1, which my sister Elizabeth and I have saved for milk for the babies. I am glad for this cool weather for them."

Joseph Fisher, Edwin Roberts and Albert L. Stix Jr. conduct a lemonade stand for the benefit of the Pure Milk Fund and earned $1.25 to help save the babies. Albert L. Stix, of 4278 Lindell boulevard, sent the amount earned to the fund, and the three boys now are the proud possessors of League buttons and membership cards.

An entertainment for the benefit of the Pure Milk Fund will be given on the lawn of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Chester, 3723 Wise avenue, by Miss Rosemary Chester and other young folks on the evenings of Aug. 1 and 2 and it is expected that a big success will be scored to help save the tenement babies.

The program to be presented is:
Violin Solo—Tamarite by Andrew Long.
Recitation—Mary Had a Little Lamb by Margaret Lawler.
Song—Thelma Volk by Thelma Volk.
Song—Vicentia Walden by Vicentia Walden.
THE NECKLACE.
A Three-Act Drama.
Mahtilde Loloi by Rosemary Chester.
Pierre, her brother by Margaret Lawler.
Jeanie Forester by Mildred Oetter.

Song—Girl Chorus.
Piano accompanist, Mrs. Robbins.
Recitation—The Gooseberry and the Goblin by Margaret Lawler.
THE GOOSEBERRY AND THE GOBLIN.

Conrad, the gooseberry, Theodore Fleming.
Pierre, the goblin, Rosemary Chester.
Pierre, the goblin, Rosemary Chester.
Pierre, the goblin, Rosemary Chester.
Pierre, the goblin, Rosemary Chester.

Violin Solo—Norman Rothenberger and Theodore Fleming.
Recitation—Heaven Not Reached by a Single Sound by Florence Rothenberger.
Recitation—God Made Them All by Florence Rothenberger.

Mrs. G. J. Chester is being assisted by Mr. Frank Jirapah, Mrs. T. Oetter and Mr. Chester in arranging this pleasant entertainment.

Gertrude and Alma Hewitt of 1749 Preston place, gave a carnival and earned $1.11 to help the Pure Milk Fund save the tenement tots.

Gertrude sang a pretty song entitled "This is the Life," the four girls sold refreshments and conducted a fish pond, a turn table and other games, and everyone present enjoyed the entertainment very much indeed.

Sarah Sigoloff of 1208 Euclid avenue, Gertrude Stenman of 471 Cote Brillante, Clara Moore of 1238A Euclid and Regina Glaser of 422A Cook avenue gave a carnival on the lawn of 1210 Euclid avenue and earned $1.56 with which to help the Pure Milk Fund save the babies.

Refreshments were sold and the pleasant affair was a most enjoyable success. These four sweet girls have worked loyally for the fund in past seasons. They wish now to return thanks to all who donated and assisted in their latest fund benefit enterprise.

The Racket Club Juniors of Webster Groves, Mo., gave an entertainment Tuesday evening for the benefit of the Pure Milk Fund and earned $3.75 to help save the little ones of the poor.

The club consists of Virginia Ryan, Beverly Githens, Harriet Manter, Florence and Eleanor Blood. In the pretty tableaux which they presented they were assisted by Isabelle and Helen Blood, Elizabeth Githens, Rowena Held, Katherine Thompson, Annie Traak Thompson, Horton Ryan, Franklin Beck and Nelson Stoker.

An ice cream and lemonade stand was conducted on the lawn of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Healy, 4147 West Pine boulevard, for the benefit of the Pure Milk Fund and earned $2.01 with which to help save the tenement tots. They presented a pleasing program of singing, instrumental music and recitations.

Those taking part in the entertainment were Genevieve Wilson, Gladys Hales, Dorothy Chard, Regina Shiff.

SHIP SAILS RESCUE MEN ON ICE-BOUND ISLAND

Bartlett Attempts Relief of Marooned Explorers on Wrangell in Arctic Ocean.

Alaska, July 22.—The revenue cutter Bear, with Capt. Robert Bartlett, commander of the wrecked Stefansson ship Karluk, aboard, sailed today for the Arctic to take off the island and four Eskimos of Bartlett's command who are marooned on Wrangell Island, where they sought refuge after the Karluk was crushed in the ice north of Herald Island last winter.
The Bear will carry provisions enough for five months. She will first take to Point Barrow, stopping at all intermediate stations en route. It is expected that 12 days will be consumed on the voyage to Point Barrow.

Three Benefits Today Will Help Save the Babies

man, Addie Murray, John Hales, Frank
Rick, Everett Smith, Julia Murray, Ag-
ness Murray, Loretta Hales and Mary
Rick.

An entertainment was given at the home of Miss Marie Lueke, 6015 Cote Brilliante avenue, and $4 was earned to help the Pure Milk Fund save the
babies.

The program included three pretty
little plays entitled "Babbling Bess,"
"Lilies," and "Fairies," two songs entitled "Mandala" and "Laddie," two recitations entitled "Little Mother" and
"Rainy Days," and pictures kindly donated and run by Edwin Eagle, of 6883
Romaine place. The lights for decorating and illuminations were generously donated by Albert Walker of 2064 Cote
Brilliante avenue. Lemonade was sold.

Those who took part in the entertainment were Genevieve Gagan, Frances
Cook, Anna Mary Cook, Adelle Gagan,
Marie Lueke and Lucille Cook.

Under the management of William
Wolf of 203 Dayton street and Meyer
Scheron, 301 North Eleventh street, a performance of the interesting vaudeville comedy sketch entitled "School Days" will be given for the benefit of the Pure Milk Fund about Aug. 18.

Louis Sher of 1600 Wash street, Herman
Sparber of 1618 Wash street, and others will take part in the performance. Full details will be given later.

WEDS RIVAL OF FIANCE, REPEATS AFTER 4 DAYS

Daughter of Mercer University's
President in New York, but
Wants to Go Home.

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 22.—The romance of Florence Martha Pickard,
daughter of the Rev. Dr. W. L. Pickard,
the new president of Mercer University,
who eloped last Friday with her old
sweetheart, Everett Harrison of Hal-
fax, N. S., while her announced fiance,
Karl Gustav Karsten, was on his way
from London to wed her, ended sadly
in New York after a honeymoon of
four days.

Mrs. Pickard received a communication from her daughter yesterday urging her to go to New York and bring back the bride. The information was hardly sufficient to determine whether
Mrs. Harrison has been abandoned by her husband or whether she has merely
grown dissatisfied with her choice.

Announcement of the engagement of
Miss Pickard to Karsten was made July
22. The marriage was to have taken place July 23 at the First Baptist Church of Savannah, of which her
father was pastor until he went to Mercer.

Karsten is a son of the late president of the University of Illinois. He was
with Miss Pickard at the University of New Mexico. He won a Rhodes scholarship and went to Oxford to complete his education. He was graduated recently.

Death Asked for American's Slave.
HAYANNA, July 22.—The death penalty has been asked by the Prosecuting
Attorney in the case of Victor Perez, a
Cuban, who is charged with killing
Duncan Campbell, an American at Santa Fe, Isle of Pines, July 11.

MAUD: My money is safe. I invested it in a diamond at Lott's Bros. & Co., the National Credit Jewellers, 2d floor, 808 N. Sixth.

Ex-Political Fleece Prison.
LEAVENWORTH, Kan., July 22.—
Digs Nolan, former Omaha politician, scrapped last night from the Federal penitentiary here. He was serving five years for using the United States mails
to defraud, and was a "fleece puller."

Workers Hurt by Fall in Hotel.

John Deszarosianka, 24 years old, of 202 South Seventh street, and Charles Pac, 25, of 1500 Locust street, fell from an improvised scaffold on the main floor
of the Hotel Jefferson about 3 a. m.
Thursday and were taken to the city
hospital to be treated for cuts and bruises. They were cleaning the ceiling.

Hale to Speak at Branch Library.

Eugene Hale, a former member of the House of Delegates, will make the principal address at Cabanne Branch Library
Friday evening at 8 o'clock at a joint meeting of the suffrage organizations in the Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth wards.
Workers from all the wards and the general public are invited.

Three Benefits
Today Will Help
Save the Babies

man, Addie Murray, John Hales, Frank
Rick, Everett Smith, Julia Murray, Ag-
ness Murray, Loretta Hales and Mary
Rick.

An entertainment was given at the home of Miss Marie Lueke, 5913 Cote Brilliant avenue, and 46 was carried to help the Pure Milk Fund save the
babies.

The program included three pretty
little plays entitled "Babbling Bess,"
"Lilies," and "Fairies"; two songs entitled "Mandarin" and "Lullaby," two recitations entitled "Little Mother" and
"Rainy Days," and pictures kindly donated and run by Edwin Eagle, of 5863
Romaine place.

The lights for decorating and illuminating were generously
donated by Albert Walker of 594 Cote
Brilliant avenue. Lemonade was sold.

Those who took part in the entertainment were Genevieve Gagan, Frances
Cook, Anna Mary Cook, Adelle Gagan,
Marie Lueke and Lucille Cook.

Under the management of William
Wolf of 209 Dayton street and Meyer
Safran, 1013 North Sixteenth street, a performance of the interesting vaudeville comedy sketch entitled "School Days" will be given for the benefit of
the Pure Milk Fund about Aug. 15.

Louis Spar of 1509 Wash street, Herman
Sparber of 1618 Wash street, and others
will take part in the performance. Full
details will be given later.

WEDS RIVAL OF FIANCE,
REPEATS AFTER 4 DAYS

Daughter of Mercer University's
President in New York, but
Wants to Go Home.

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 23.—The romance of Florence Martha Pickard,
daughter of the Rev. Dr. W. L. Pickard,
the new president of Mercer University,
who eloped last Friday with her old
sweetheart, Everett Harrison of Hal-
fax, N. S., while her announced fiancé,
Karl Gustav Karsten, was on his way
from London to wed her, ended sadly
in New York after a honeymoon of
four days.

Mrs. Pickard received a communication from her daughter yesterday bringing her to go to New York and bring back the bride. The information was hardly sufficient to determine whether
Mrs. Harrison has been abandoned by
grown dissatisfied with her choice.

Announcement of the engagement of
Miss Pickard to Karsten was made July
12. The marriage was to have taken place July 23 at the First Baptist Church of Savannah, of which her
father was pastor until he went to Mercer.

Karsten is a son of the late president of the University of Illinois. He was
with Miss Pickard at the University of New Mexico. He won a Rhodes scholarship and went to Oxford to complete his education. He was graduated recently.

Death Asked for American's Haven.

HAVANNA, July 23.—The death penalty has been asked by the Prosecuting
Attorney in the case of Victor Perez, a
Cuban, who is charged with killing
Duncan Campbell, an American at Santa Fe, Isla de Pines, July 11.

MAUD: My money is safe. I invested it in a diamond at Lott's Bros. & Co., the National Credit Jewelry, 34 floor, 338 N. B. B.

Ex-Politician Flees Prison.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., July 23.—
Digs Nolan, former Omaha politician, escaped last night from the Federal penitentiary here. He was serving five years for using the United States mails
in a fraud, and was in custody.

Workers Hurt by Fall in Hotel.

John Desmarozianka, 34 years old, of 302 South Seventh street, and Charles Pao, 20, of 123 Locust street, fell from
an improvised scaffold on the main floor
of the Hotel Jefferson about 3 a. m.
Thursday and were taken to the city
hospital to be treated for cuts and bruises. They were cleaning the cell-
ing.

Hale to Speak at Branch Library.

Eugene Hale, a former member of the House of Delegates, will make the principal address at Cabanne Branch Library
Friday evening at 8 o'clock at a joint meeting of the suffrage organizations in
the Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth wards.
Workers from all the wards and the
general public are invited.

MARSANS ANSWER FILED; HEARING MAY BE DELAYED

Cuban Federal's Injunction May Not Be Lifted Before the End of September.

AGREEMENT IS ATTACKED

Jumper's Attorney Declares Organized Baseball an Unlawful Conspiracy.

Alleging that the National Agreement entered into by the American, National and many minor baseball leagues, is an unlawful agreement and conspiracy that has stifled competition except in the Federal League, Dwight F. Currie filed an answer in the Federal Circuit Court Thursday to the petition of the Cincinnati (National League) Club on which a temporary injunction was issued June 14 against Left Fielder Armando Marsans, the Cuban ball player who jumped to the local Federal League team last month.

After filing the answer in the case, Currie said he did not know when the hearing would be held, but he said the hearing is away on a vacation and unless another judge is appointed to hear the case, the Marsans matter will not be disposed of until Judge Dyer returns. Judge Jacob T. Fisher, whose home is in Little Rock, Arkansas, is expected in St. Louis Monday.

Currie also asks the court to dissolve the temporary injunction that has kept Marsans on the bench since he joined the Federal League, alleging that constant pressure is necessary to maintain the status of a ball player, and that Marsans will lose his means of livelihood unless he is permitted at once to play professional baseball.

Post-Dispatch Staff Expert Will Go With Cards on Pennant Dash

THE Cardinals leave tonight for a most important invasion of the East. The club has a fighting chance for the pennant. The Cardinals are closer to the top than any St. Louis ball club has been at this stage since the Browns flashed in 1908. Their work in the East, therefore, will be watched by the St. Louis fans with intense interest.

That Davis Cup Selection.

WITH the naming of Maurice McLoughlin, R. Norris Williams II, Karl Behr and T. C. Bundy as the team which will represent America in the Davis tennis cup challenge rounds, beginning at Forest Hills, L. I., Aug. 13, the National Committee seems to have chosen the best team and excited as little sectional jealousy as possible.

Behr and Williams represent the East and McLoughlin and Bundy the West. Williams and McLoughlin represent the youth of the team, Bundy and Behr the seasoned veteran effect. From the host of candidates in the field for the honor of representing the United States the committee has chosen what appears to be the best quartet available at the present time.

All other candidates have shown inferiority under stress in the preliminary play and the committee is above any charge of favoritism.

WALLACE, ALMOST WELL, NEEDED TO BOLSTER BROWNS

Shortfield Weaknesses Have Kept the Rickey Infield From Showing Class.

Pitcher Manning, Hurt in Automobile Accident, Works Out With Wallace.

PRIOR to three days ago, Bob Wallace had been practicing at Sportsman's Park, tossing a ball against the concrete stand and catching it on the rebound and by knocking fly balls and serving as his own fielder. Three days ago, however, Ernie Manning, the big pitcher, who was "famed" to the Rochester (International League) team and was run over by an automobile two weeks ago, bobbed up.

For Bob, despite his wound, Manning is able to be up and about. He and Wallace have been working out together.

Manning came here to recuperate from the bump of a Ford. Whether he returns to Rochester or tarries with the Browns is determined by Manager Rickey.

By Clarence F. Lloyd.

Old Man Wallace, who has become beat and gray in his 30 years of service as a big leaguer, seems to be B. Wesley Rickey's hope of keeping the Browns in the fight for the American League pennant. If Rickey is to send the Browns back to the top, he will need a pitcher who is able to lead a couple of thousand diamond battles, still looms up as the best Rickey can offer in the shortstop position.

Wallace has been a steady performer in the past, but his right hand is broken and he is still out of the pastime. Unless the terrific heat and their long preliminary campaign wear out the Australians, it will be good luck if the Davis Cup doesn't go to far off shores again.

As to Our Umpires.

WE have with us two umpires, Byron and Johnson. Put in between the singles and the doubles, and you can at once see where this car stuff comes from.

Not Dead Yet, Old Top.

WELL, boy, it's all over. Toss away your bats and gloves and go back to the farm or mining or other normal occupation. The great game of professional baseball is all over, and the burial certificate.

SPORTS SALARY

By L.C. DAVIS.

After carefully giving Wilbert Robinson the once-over, we are strongly impressed with the idea that Brooklyn has a fat chance to win the pennant.

They're Off.

GOOD-BYE, Huggins! It will give us the heart to see you go. Though we know that you must leave us for the front, to fight the foe. For the championship you're scrapping for, we know you can't go on without you. Farewell, Hug, old top!

Strain of Pennant Fight Telling on Cards' Leader May Take Needed Rest

Huggins' Batting Eye Has Failed Him, Temporarily—Team Will Rely on It's Splendid Pitching Corps to Carry It to the Top on Coming Trip.

By W. J. O'Connor.

AFTER all is said, successful baseball is entirely a question of pitching, as was proved Wednesday at Robison Field. The Cards staged almost weird stunts of the offense, but won because Willie Doak pitched tight ball all the way. And the most interesting part of the Cards' present spurt is that THERE IS AN ABUNDANCE OF GOOD PITCHING.

Manager Huggins will start on an all-improved Eastern invasion tonight with four pitchers—Doak, Salles, Ferritt and Perdue—going at top speed, while Griner has flashed with two good games. Robinson is the only cripple and word has been passed out by the club physician that Huggins had been up 19 times without a hit, while he has fanned four times in the last two games, an unusual record for him.

Hug May Bench Himself.

Another move contemplated by Huggins is the benching of himself. Huggins has been batting .100 in the current series, but Dolan now is out for at least a week and Huggins has a chance for laying off, vanishing. He may send Senator Nash to second in the Philadelphia series, as it would be well for the Manager to rest up before the club meets New York. When the Giants are met, we want Huggins on second base every inning of every game. He's a big factor in a hard-fought series.

No Stay-at-Homes This Trip.

Every member of the Cardinal squad will be taken on the coming swing around the circuit. Mascot Callahan may also go while the entire business with the exception of Kenneth Mooney, who is forced to remain at home because of illness, will make the junket.

This is following the style set by the Cardinals last year, when they won 100 games. There were 48 in the New York party last year, and 48 in the Philadelphia party. This year, the Cardinals will have 48 in the party, and 48 in the Philadelphia party.

Australian Team Gets First Test in Matches Today

Brookes and Wilding Play Canadians in Davis Cup Preliminary.

CHICAGO, July 23.—Play in the international tennis matches for the Davis Cup, scheduled to begin here today between the Canadian and Australian teams, had the promise of overcast skies and temperatures somewhat moderated from the scorching heat of the last few days.

41 SWIMMERS TO TRY FOR FIVE-MILE TITLE

Forty-one local swimmers will face Starter C. W. Bennett, at the start of the five-mile river swim to be held Sunday afternoon, under the auspices of the Western Rowing Club. This number of swimmers is a record for the city's swim, but it is probable that the blanks of one or two stragglers will be needed before the entry list closes, late this afternoon. Athletic clubs, rowing clubs and business houses will be asked to make it four straight and to be represented in the event.

AMERICA'S THIRD MOTOR TO BE TRIED IN FLIGHT TODAY

Installation Is Completed and Engine Found to Be Perfectly Balanced.

IS OPERATED FROM CABIN

Porte Will Try to Cross Ocean in October if He Can't Get Away by Aug. 15.

By Lieut. John Cyril Porte, R. N. Copyright, 1914, by Press Publishing Co. (New York World.) HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y., July 22.—The America's third motor was tested last night and found to be perfectly balanced and easy to operate by a cranking device operated from the cabin by pulleys. The installation was completed too late, however, to permit flight until today. It was 8:30 o'clock when the motor was ready for testing, and it was then so dark that the fire spilling from the cylinder could be seen across the aviation field. It was cloudy evening, with no moon to light the glassy waters of Lake Keuka, and a trial flight under those conditions would be too risky, even in everyone's feverish haste to learn whether the third motor is to solve the problem of raising the Roman Wainmaker aloft out of water under full load.

Everyone connected with the expedition is on edge awaiting the result of today's test, for on the successful development of the third motor depends our flying in August or postponing the attempt to reach the Atlantic until October.

Went Wait Till Next Year. I say October, because I am fully determined to make the attempt then if the America is not ready for shipment to Newfoundland in time to make the flight by August 15.

Fully appreciating the friendly advice of Capt. Cragh Osborne and the gentlemen of the Aero Club, who suggest putting over the flight until next year if we can't get away by August 15, I still believe there is no reason sufficient to prevent a successful flight after the equinoctial storms have subsided. The disadvantage of flying in October is not the weather, but the long nights.

The problem of navigating during the longer nights in October does not deter me in the least, for we should pick our time, being less crowded by preparations than we are now, and depend upon going by the light of a full moon.

However, it is not necessary yet to discuss plans for October, because I

Daughter of Sheriff Who Has Husband Arrested as Vagrant

MRS. OTTO J. HEZEL

haven't given up by a long shot our hope of getting the America right for shipment from New York on August 1. The air boat is in better shape than it was a week ago. The covering of the wings has been repaired where the wear and tear of a month's experimenting had begun to make itself shown.

Engine Vibration Lessened. George Hallett has been working on the problem of eliminating engine vibration and we think it has been about taken care of. It is true that new factors are being introduced with the addition of the third motor. To make room for the motor in the top of the upper plane it was necessary to make incisions in the wing surface and cut off about eight feet of the leading edge to make room for tractor propeller.

Altogether the lifting surface has been reduced by perhaps 15 square feet. Calculating eight pounds to the square foot there is a maximum loss of only 50 pounds of carrying capacity out of a total of possibly 6000. If necessary we can add ample surface by extending the lower wings.

The advantage of the third motor in emergency should be sufficient to offset this loss in speed. Mr. Curtis believes we shall be able to carry an additional 1000 pounds of useful load by taking on the extra motor.

Aviation Enthusiasts Engage Passage to Newfoundland to See Start.

NEW YORK, July 22.—After many delays because of changes necessary in the construction of the America, it now has practically been decided to ship the airboat to St. Johns, N. F., according to a letter received from Glenn H. Curtiss at Hammondsport, by Henry Woodhouse of the Aero Club of America. Members of the club are today making arrangements for their passage to St. Johns in order to be present when Lieut. Porte makes ready to begin the flight across the Atlantic. Practically the entire accommodations of a steamer sailing on August 1, have been engaged by the aviation enthusiasts.

OTTO HEZEL GIVES VAGRANCY BOND; WIFE GOES AWAY

Sheriff Dickmann's Daughter, Who Caused Husband's Arrest, Sent From City.

Mrs. Otto J. Hezel, daughter of Sheriff Dickmann, departed from St. Louis Thursday for Waukegan, Wis., after causing the arrest of her husband on a charge of vagrancy. She recently had several fainting spells and, according to members of the family, was advised by her physician to leave St. Louis and get her mind off her troubles as much as possible.

Mrs. Hezel had her husband arrested after his failure to pay her $40 a month and a $50 attorney fee after she filed a separate maintenance suit. She alleged this made him a vagrant within the meaning of the law.

After Sheriff Dickmann took office he made Hezel a deputy at a salary of $125 a month. He was discharged after Mrs. Hezel told her father that her husband did not provide properly for her out of his salary. After the Hezels separated the wife sued her mother-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Hezel of 2223 South Eleventh street, for $50,000 for alleged alienation of affections.

Hezel, who lives at his mother's home, was released on $200 bond.

'BANDANNA' HIGHWAYMAN ROBS A GIRL'S ESCORT

Another Man Reports He Was Held Up in Forest Park, Lost $8.

The "bandanna" highwayman, who has been operating extensively in Forest Park for four weeks, took a night off Wednesday, but was the subject of another police report.

William Monroe, who gave his address as 603 Commercial building, told the police he was robbed of $8 Tuesday night by a man whose face was partially concealed behind a big red South-Kerchief. Monroe said he was walking along Highlands drive in Forest Park with Miss Nellie Smith of Springfield, Mo., when he was robbed. He was the sixth victim of the robber.

FOUR FINGERS CUT OFF GIRL'S HAND BY CLEAVER

Eleanor Westermann, 8, Tried to Grab Nut Brother Was Cracking on Meat Block.

Arthur Westermann, 9 years old, son of Jacob Westermann, was cracking nuts with a cleaver on a meat block in his father's shop at 608 South Vandeventer avenue, Tuesday evening, when his sister, Eleanor, 8 years old, tried to grab one of the nuts from the block.

The cleaver struck her right hand, cutting off four fingers.

PAYS DEBTS, ENDS LIFE

Leonard H. Yehlen Jr. Drinks Poison at Gun Club.

Leonard H. Yehlen Jr., 25 years old, of 2407 Menard street, killed himself by drinking carbolic acid in the Acme Rod and Gun Club, 2309 Menard street, Wednesday night.

Members of his family said they could assign no reason for his act, which he evidently had planned for several hours. He paid small debts to several friends during the day and told them that he was going "on a long trip." His body was found lying on two tables in the club, and next to him was a beer glass which had contained the acid. Yehlen was employed by a brewery as a salesman until a week ago, when he resigned.

DUEL CAUSED BY PLAGUE

Havana Editor Wounds Health Official's Brother.

HAVANA, July 22.—A duel was fought yesterday by Leon Ichaso, one of the editors of El Diario de la Manana, and Raoul Nunez, brother of the Secretary of Sanitation. Nunez was wounded in the arm.

The duel was the outcome of an article published by the paper censuring the sanitary department in connection with the bubonic plague.

WOMAN IS POISONED

She Thinks She Took Mercury by Mistake for Headache.

Mrs. Marie Maxwell, 20 years old, of 2730 Washington avenue, became suddenly ill at 9:30 a. m. Thursday, and was taken to the city hospital, where physicians diagnosed her case as mercurial poisoning. She said she must have taken poison by mistake Wednesday night when she went into the bathroom to get a headache tablet.

STOVE COMPANY SUED UNDER TRUST ACT FOR $250,000

Alleging the Wrought Iron Range Co. of St. Louis pursued business methods which put 14 of its competitors out of business, the St. Louis Steel Range Co. filed a $250,000 damage suit against the Wrought Iron Co. in the United States District Court Wednesday afternoon.

The petition alleges violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

If this allegation is proven the plaintiff company will be entitled to a judgment for three times the amount of damages awarded to it by the verdict.

The St. Louis Steel Range Co. in its petition says it had contracts to sell the entire outputs of the Sanitary Stove Co. and the Never-Break Stove Co., but that it was hampered by the Wrought Iron Range Co. in carrying out these contracts.

The Wrought Iron Range Co. it is alleged, used methods which put all of its competitors out of business except the St. Louis Steel Co.

The companies alleged to have been forced out of business are: The Economat Furnace Co., Marion, Ind.; Majestic Range Co., St. Louis; Drake Hardware Co., Friendship, N. Y.; E. R. Lee Co., Grand Rapids, Mich.; Wood & Worth, Illinois; W. W. Bowen, Marlinton, O.; John Bowen, Moundsville, W. Va.; Tennessee Range Co., Nashville; J. D. Faulkner, Kansas; Jules Carson, Alabama; E. T. and J. R. Russell, Tennessee; W. V. Shelton, Hope, Ark.; Magnolia Stove and Range Co., Illinois; and the Never-Break Range Co. of St. Louis.

Attorney B. F. Schnurmacher, for the Wrought Iron Range Co., said the company had not violated the anti-trust laws and had merely pursued the usual methods to increase its business and meet competition.

Frank R. Henry, secretary of the Majestic Manufacturing Co. of St. Louis, mentioned in the petition as the "Majestic Range Co., said there was no truth in the allegation that his company had been "forced out of business."

The Never-Break Range Co., the other St. Louis concern mentioned in the petition, is now a part of the St. Louis Steel Range Co. which filed the suit.

'SPEC' SPECIALISTS TOLD TO CHARGE FOR THEIR TIME

"Specs" specialists of the country, at their national convention at the Planters Hotel, Wednesday afternoon, were given to understand that they are losing a lot of money by exhibiting the familiar sign: "Eyes examined free."

This and other lessons under the general head of "Ethical Relations of Optometrist and Patient" was taught in the form of a two hours' dialogue between Dr. F. A. Wolf of Columbia University, New York City, and Albert Meyer of Albert Lea, Minn., president of the association. Dr. Wolf played the role of optometrist and Meyer represented a prospective purchaser of "specs."

It had been explained that the optometrist should cultivate equanimity and imperturbability, which would be found to greatly promote sales, power and efficiency. Dr. Meyer was a type of "fussy" customer who does not know what he wants. Dr. Wolf, by bringing all his equanimity and imperturbability to bear, calmed him enough to examine his eyes, and when the customer started to depart without ordering glasses, the optometrist, with the same equanimity and imperturbability said:

"The examination fee is $2."

"But I thought opticians examined eyes free," the customer protested.

"I am an optometrist," was the answer. "We charge here for our time. There are only so many working hours in the day. If we did not charge you for our time someone else would have to pay for it."

Different phases of the relation between the optometrist and the patient were presented in dialogue form. After one of the cases had been presented Meyer remarked in an aside to the audience:

"I suggest that the optometrist always offer his higher-priced, better grade goods first, so that the customer may know he has the latter's welfare in mind. Then, if he cannot pay that price, show him the next lower grade and so on until his pocket book is reached."

Would you buy furniture if you could save 1/3 to 1/2?

IF we could absolutely prove to you that you are actually saving from one-third to one-half on all housefurnishing needs, would it be an incentive to you to anticipate your wants—to buy now for the future?

A VERY peculiar position exists here: We are in a temporary store that is much too small for our requirements. We had to move before we could find a permanent location, and the result is, we are overcrowded—we have no room to show half of our furniture, and the necessity for making extreme price sacrifices on the entire stock on hand, must be apparent to you.

WE are not thinking of profit at the present time, nor are we paying much regard to costs—our total aim and object is to dispose of our present stock on hand, and we realize that the only method that can be successfully employed in accomplishing the desired results is the extreme sacrifice of prices—and that's the method we have adopted.

IT makes no difference what kind of furniture you want, whether it be a single piece, a new outfit for any room or an entire outfit—neither does it matter the character of furniture you desire, whether it be the substantial inexpensive kind or the very finest.

You will find them all represented in this sale, in varieties that ensure of satisfactory selection and qualities that will give you substantial service.

THE quality of our furniture is established—thousands upon thousands of St. Louis homes have had demonstrations of its serviceability. They know from experience that it is the everlasting kind, and the designs are exceptionally good.

WHEN you have the privilege of choosing from this kind of furniture and other home requirements and paying from one-third to one-half less than the regular prices, it is a real opportunity—one that you must not miss.

WE say to you in all earnestness that no matter whether you intend buying furniture this Fall or next Spring, or whether you did not intend to buy for a year, it will pay you to come in and attend this great sale. Now—today—tomorrow or just as soon as you possibly can.

WE have made no restrictions whatever—our entire stock is involved—everything is offered at a substantial price reduction.

Showing if You Bet

Fellow's Game You'll Lose Every Time.

By Borden H. Mills.

I am not really a trick at all," said the dentist, "but the patient, the drummer, 'though I don't understand it myself, to tell the truth, it's a marvelous faculty possessed by a friend of mine for knowing what's going on in a place, though he may not be personally present, or have any means of communication. You can lay out here on the table an entire pack of cards, face up, and touch any one of the 52. Then step to the telephone and call up my friend, and he'll tell you what card you have touched."

"Impossible," said the patient. "I'd be almost anything that it can't be done. It might be worked if you did the telephoning, and had some combination of words, or code of signals to use in talking to your friend, from which he could tell what card had been picked out. But if I do the telephoning, I'd want a ten-spot he couldn't tell the card."

"Done," said the dentist. He produced a pack of cards and handed them to the drummer, who shuffled them thoroughly, and laid them out, face up, in four rows of 13 cards each. At the dentist's request the drummer touched one, that changed to be the ten-spot of diamonds.

"Now," said the dentist, "step to the phone, call 300 Cortlandt, ask for my friend, tell him that you're at my office and have touched a card, and ask him what card you touched."

The drummer did as directed, and after a moment's pause, he returned over the wire. "That was the ten of diamonds you picked out."

The money was the dentist's. The loser pressed him for an explanation of the trick, for trick he believed it to be, but the dentist insisted that he was as much in the dark as the drummer, who thereupon left the office.

"HERE'S a catch somewhere," said he to his friend, the credit man, to whom he related his experience, and I'd like to know just where."

"Well," said the credit man, "I'm not adverse to making a tenner or two myself, and being forewarned by the doctor, I'll stick him on to it if he doesn't. I'll make a little wager with him myself, and watch him closely, and perhaps I'll see the game before it is really worked, and be able to catch him in the act."

"All right," said the credit man, "I'll know how it was done. If I meet you here at six and tell you how, is that tamer mine?"

"It is," exclaimed the drummer, "provided, of course, you do not get too far ahead of me. I'll stick him on to it, and as for that, I'll trust to your honor."

"Done," was the reply, and they went their ways. Six o'clock came, and they met in the dining-room.

"Well," began the credit man, "you're stung—and so am I. I went through practically the same experience you did—picked out the ace of spades, and the dentist's friend promptly told me what card he had touched. I watched him carefully during the whole proceeding."

While I was getting 300 Cortlandt, he paid no attention to me at all, but continued to read in a book he had picked up but a moment before I selected the card."

"It's certainly a most mysterious affair all the way through," was the drummer's reply, "and I'd give anything to know just how it was worked."

The two did not meet again for nearly a year, when they ran across one another on Fifth street. The drummer, who had stopped to chat, and the credit man remarked:

"By the way, do you remember last year?"

"Yes, how do you get fooled on that card game of your dentist's?"

Marguerite Martyn

Writes of St. Louis'

Prim Sweet Singer,

Characterized by the

Simplicity of Her

Tastes, and Who,

Though Beloved by

the Literati, Avoids

All Bohemian Affections.

By Marguerite Martyn.

THOSE who base their conception of Miss Sara Teasdale's outward and visible personality upon their knowledge of her poems have a surprise in store for them when they meet, face to face, this young St. Louisian now indexed among the nation's illustrious by "Who's Who."

At least I was surprised. Miss Teasdale doesn't in the least live up to the conventional conception of a poetess.

You would be pardoned for expecting the author of "Sonnets to Dante" to gaze at you abently from beneath heavy eyelids; the author of Sappho to trail about in Grecian robes or enveloped in clouds; and the interpreter of Helen of Troy to be worldlywise, sophisticated, experienced.

And, too, you might expect one whom "Who's Who" had selected for its roll of fame to be arrived at years of settled maturity.

As a matter of fact, Miss Sara Teasdale is none of these things. Her eyes are not dreamy, nor far away. They are alert and alight and look through unromantic spectacles. She is near-sighted rather than star gazing.

Her Mouth Betrays Her Humor. ABOUT her mouth with its long upper lip there plays the evidence of the sense of humor, but not of sensuality. Her lips are not classic, but extremely practical.

Only recently discarding "Peter Thompson" frocks, she never until now has taken a moment of going collarless, wore a low-necked gown. At a tea party in New York one afternoon last winter she is said to have worn a chiffon blouse with transparent sleeves and no long undersleeves! The matter was of such a nature that it is still discussed among her friends.

In short, what I am trying to impress is that, instead of the ecstasies of dress, manner and mode of living by which she is called upon to recognize the poetic temperament, this poet is to be distinguished for the wholesome and old-fashioned sincerity her personality exhales.

Such was my impression of her a year and tells him he has a friend who can tell what card is touched in a pack laid out face up, with out being present at all, just by being called up on the phone and told that the card has been picked out. The credit man gets excited about it, and nine times out of ten offers to bet it can't be done. If he doesn't make the offer himself, my friend does, and it's mighty seldom that he isn't taken up. The guy lays out the pack, and the credit man, and then calls me up, and I tell him what card's been touched—every time. We knock out a hundred or more some weeks, for the doc has a big practice—mostly among sporting men and other gentle folk that think they know a good thing when they see it. "Easy money" is no name for it."

"But," said the credit man, "I don't see it yet. How can you tell from here what card's been touched?"

"Easy," was the reply. "I have a little book here—you can see it hanging by the phone, and if you'd been watching in me, you would have noticed that I looked in it before telling him what the card was. The doctor has the same thing posted in the middle of his engagement book. It's a list of the 52 cards in the pack, and opposite the name of each card is the name of some person—the same names in his list as in mine, in the same order."

"Suppose the guy touches the Queen of Hearts. Doc looks in the book—that's easy, because he has opened it a moment before—maybe to put down another engagement for the patient, for all he knows. Opposite the name 'Queen of Hearts' is written the name 'Jackson.' Doc says, 'Call up 300 Cortlandt, and ask for Mr. Jackson.' The fellow does so. I answer the phone, look for Jackson, and there's the Queen of Hearts opposite. 'You touched the Queen of Hearts,' says I—and the money's ours."

"Cinch? Well, I should rather say. It's almost a shame to take the money," said the credit man, looking sadly at drummer.

"Shame isn't the word," said drummer to credit.

"Leave one on the House, gent?" said the bartender.

New Home Treatment

for Banishing Hairs

(Beauty Topics)

With the aid of a delicate paste, it is an easy matter for any woman to remove every trace of hair or hair on face, neck and arms. Enough of the paste is rubbed on the skin to form a thick paste and spread on the face with the fingers. The paste is rubbed off and the skin washed. This is repeated until the skin is clean and the hair is gone. The paste is a good skin treatment for you, if you will tell us the name.

SARA TEASDALE

THE POETESS OF FICTION AND THE POETESS OF FACT

or so ago and I am told that two or three seasons among New York's literati have changed her not at all.

Miss Teasdale Shuts Bohemia. INSTEAD of affecting a studio in Bohemia she lives while there at the prim and proper Martha Washington hotel.

And for all these prosaic qualities our poetess does not fail to charm even the erotics. Her very senseness may have afforded a novelty to society in the effete and jaded East. At any rate I am told Miss Teasdale is a "great success" socially in New York wherever she appears, whether in artistic or fashionable society. And so attached has she become to Gotham, the Mecca of literary folk that her home in St. Louis at St. Kingsbury place knows her scarcely at all of late.

She at present is visiting her parents at their summer home, Charlevoix, Mich. Miss Teasdale does not wear her temperament superficially; and knowing this one may appreciate the more the depths of feeling, of sentiment, of philosophy which her poems are the revelation of. Today she is under 30 years of age. Two collections of her verses have been published, and poems submitted to the best magazines received from the first ready and substantial recognition.

She was elected to the Poetry Society, an honor to be coveted, and is now an officer of the society. In 1912 she was distinguished by an accepted authority as being the author of one of the "seven best poems of the year."

Miss Teasdale's poems appeal always for their lyric and metrical qualities. Critics never fail to comment upon the perfection of their technique.

Love Themes Her Favorites. IT is a little strange that one so workmanlike, so orderly in her methods should choose most frequently love for her subject. She has described this emotion in its every phase, would seem, and with an intensity of expression almost Oriental. And it is characteristic of her earnestness and sincerity that she has resolved not to be tempted to bring out another book until she has had a way look at life and a proper perspective upon her present productions.

She is the daughter of a wealthy family and very much younger than her sisters. Those habits of living and manner of dress that strike New York as prim are no doubt the result of the extreme care taken of her as a child. So careful were they to clothe her warmly that it is said, she never wore slippers—even to parties—always having high shoes—made to match her frocks.

She was educated in private schools and one of her teachers, Mrs. Ellen Dean Lockwood, did much to develop expression in the unusually bright, but shy and sensitive little girl.

Gifted from the start with an extraordinary sense of the beautiful, she grew to appreciate it in every tiniest detail of life about her. An active and inquiring mind and sympathetic soul seem to have supplied in her rather restricted life the deficiency of broad contact with the world.

It is rather wonderful that an atmosphere of leisure and luxury doesn't always stifle or discourage the habit of industry necessary even to a poet. But I leave you to ponder again the mystery of how art just happens—"no King may command it, no novel is entirely safe from it."

Cover Your Bottles.

In carrying a small bottle on a voyage, it is an excellent plan to cover the bottle with a piece of leather, and this is easily done. In this way, if the bottle breaks there is no danger from wounds caused by the glass, and the cover acts as a good protection.

For a square section bottle, trace the profile on a piece of leather four times side by side, and add the small square representing the bottom to one of the profiles. Cutting out with the scissors, this makes only one seam at the end to be sewed up, also the parts at the neck of the bottle, and the bottom piece!

Love and Courtesy

Answers to readers' inquiries from the Post-Dispatch expert on conventional conduct.

By BETTY VINCENT.

The Highly Respectable Girl.

A ST. LOUIS girl has written me, and most seriously, too, asking "why it is that the highly respectable girls do not seem to enjoy themselves." She is only 17. Ah! how well I know her kind!

At once her question reveals the fact that she is looking at life with the wrong viewpoint, which, if not altered, is sure to lead into serious experiences.

In the first place, she should put herself in the right attitude toward the divine plan of human life, and what it means. We must remember that every mortal has a certain moral responsibility to make the most of his or her life, according to the talents bestowed upon them. Some of us have great talents, others the faculty of making and holding friendships, etc. We must not overemphasize the mere circumstance of social popularity, which is a thing that naturally takes care of itself. We must cultivate the right ideals and traits of character that make for true womanliness and usefulness.

We must study to make ourselves agreeable and congenial, whatever our charm of mind and person may be. A girl will find the right sort of men will readily appreciate such qualities, whereas she can well afford to ignore the fickle fancy of the other class. She should not get the false idea of competing with her girl friends for special favor in the eyes of their men acquaintances. This is not only undignified, but exposes her to rudeness. Remember, it is not always the girl who has the greatest number of admirers and is most sought after who gets and enjoys the most out of life.

All too frequently social popularity is purchased at the expense of peace of mind and strength of character. We must learn to look upon life seriously and regard each thought and action as a step in the upbuilding of character. And remember this! That the "highly respectable" girls are the ones, and the greatest number of admirers and is most sought after who gets and enjoys the most out of life.

Oh! poor, little, misguided 17-year-old maid! If but by some lifting of the veil of the future you could look at life now as you will see it when you are 34!

A Query Often Received. R. L. writes: I am in love with a girl a year and a half older than I am. Will this difference in ages interfere with our happiness should we marry?

If you are 30 and she 31, no; but if you are 21 and she 22, I am inclined to believe it might. According to all the statistics, it is best, at all stages, for the man to be some few years older than his wife. Experience has proven a woman of 20 has as much sense as a man of 25; 30 she has sometimes twice as much, especially common sense, as a man of 35. Were I you I would bear all this in mind before settling down permanently into the conjugal state.

The Parental Objection. L. N. writes: I am in love with a boy 21. I know he loves me, for he wants me to marry him. We have known each other all our lives. I have refused to marry him because I have promised my parents never to elope. If they will have I come right, and would I be breaking my promise if I married him? He is a boy of good Christian character.

I wish you had stated the cause for the parental objection. In many cases parents are right in refusing the marriage of their daughters, even to boys of good Christian character. There are so many just reasons why I side with the parents in cases of your sort. Bear this in mind: Every father and mother wishes to see their daughter married, and, above all, happily. When they object there is always a good reason behind it, and one for the daughter's good.

Wasting Postage. S. B. writes: For some time there have been things I have wanted to know about, and yet can't find out about. Will you oblige me by telling them to me?

My dear young lady, as I am neither a mystic nor a clairvoyant, you will have to be more specific before I can lend you my aid. Daily I am in receipt of many puzzling queries, but within the year, I do not think I have met with so knotty a one as yours.

Making Gifts. E. L. A. writes: I have known a young lady since last fall, and think a great deal of her. Would it be all right for me to present her with a box of candy on her birthday?

By all means do so. When a young man and woman are friendly to the extent you set forth, a box of candy is a very suitable present. After giving her this first box, don't wait another year before repeating the present. I once knew a young man, who during his courtship with the girl he eventually married, only gave her one box of candy. Later he has proven to be a very stingy man.

Z. W. writes: A young man pays me attention and I like him very much because our tastes agree and because he does not seem to admire forward, fast girls. But he doesn't seem as often as with the world. How can I win more of his attention?

There is nothing you can do except be nice to the man when you do see him. He is evidently the sort whom aggressive tactics would disgust.

Getting Married.

M. P. writes:

I am 23 and I am in no such hurry to get married as other young men of my age. Do you think I shall ever marry? Or will my present ideas on the subject undergo a change?

Wait and see. If you marry without really desiring to do so you will probably regret it.

A Word to the Irritable

THOSE who are easily irritated lose an enormous amount of precious time and costly energy. In physiology, irritability is the property of responding to a stimulus. In botany, plants endowed with irritable organs, whose life is in constant clasp. This is all right in soulless plants or muscles or nerves; but it is all wrong in men and women who are supposed to decide for themselves what to respond to, or grapple with, and what to leave alone.

He is the most miserable of all men who must respond to everything that touches him. He is the happiest of men who can quietly ignore much that irritates him. How often we have spotted an entire day, which seemed to be bright with promise, simply by letting ourselves be overwrought and upset early in the day by an unpleasant word or annoying action of another!

How often we have been saved from the loss of time and temper that seemed imminent, in this way, simply because something else "happened" to divert our attention and cause us to forget for a few minutes the irritation to which we were so valiantly responding, and which was threatening our peace and usefulness!

Then we were ashamed of ourselves for having to be saved in that indirect way, when a little resolute will-power would have put the irritation to rout. An instant's irritation is often beyond the control of anyone; but to allow that irritation to remain and dominate and destroy, is to get down to the level of plants and animals.

We can't blame a woman for her curiosity. Just think of the many things man doesn't confide in woman.

Fire losses and the expense of fire prevention cost the United States more than the total value of its production of gold, silver, copper and petroleum.

Utilizing the Dish Drainer. A FURTHER discovering that dishes placed on the radiator in the kitchen—our kitchen is steam-heated—altered and fell, I purchased a wire dish drainer," writes a prudent housewife. "It is large, cost 10 cents, and lies accurately on the top of the radiator. It looks well and holds many dishes, so that I have always heated plates and vegetable dishes when I desire. I also dry my tinware in it after washing it."

A FURTHER discovering that dishes placed on the radiator in the kitchen—our kitchen is steam-heated—altered and fell, I purchased a wire dish drainer," writes a prudent housewife. "It is large, cost 10 cents, and lies accurately on the top of the radiator. It looks well and holds many dishes, so that I have always heated plates and vegetable dishes when I desire. I also dry my tinware in it after washing it."

Fire losses and the expense of fire prevention cost the United States more than the total value of its production of gold, silver, copper and petroleum.

"You Might as Well Play and Enjoy Your Stay"

ONCE knew a lad (now this is real sad)

Who was cautious as cautious could be; He never could decide on just what to ride, So fearful of wrecks was he.

He never would eat any kind of canned meat, At poison, his soul was a-panic; He suffered with blues when he thought of a cruise.

He pictured a second Titanic. He always turned pale when the wind blew a gale, His thoughts turned at once to a storm.

He walked up all stairs, the lift gave him scares, A sunstroke he feared when 'twas warm.

When he went to a play, he'd oft go away, Though the curtain proclaimed proof of fire; When he'd see the red light, and "exit right," He'd grow icy cold and perspire.

LIKE a plague, he would pass a hotel with ease, He pictured a second Titanic. He always turned pale when the wind blew a gale, His thoughts turned at once to a storm.

He walked up all stairs, the lift gave him scares, A sunstroke he feared when 'twas warm.

When he went to a play, he'd oft go away, Though the curtain proclaimed proof of fire; When he'd see the red light, and "exit right," He'd grow icy cold and perspire.
